LOCAL NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Item.
The Mattern reunion will be held at Tyrone tomorrow.

The annual reunion of the old Pennsylvania canal boatmen will be held at Blairsville, September 10.

Mrs. Lou Skipper on Monday moved from Lewistown to one of the M. L. Rex flats over L. M. Dell's store.

The excursion rate from Mapleton to the Grangers' picnic at Williams Grove will be $4.10. Tickets will be good from August 18th to September 1st.

The annual picnic of the Sherman Sunday school and citizens of Smith valley was held in Posten's grove last Saturday and was a great success. A large crowd of people was present, Mapleton being well represented at the gathering.

Photographic post cards of Mapleton scenery in large variety for sale at the Item office. View of Mapleton cemetery, during Memorial services, May 30, 1908, is included in the display. We have other post cards in great profusion at popular prices.

The Sunday meetings which are being held at Riverside park have been well attended and seemingly much appreciated by our citizens during the hot weather. These meetings will continue as long as conditions permit and the church going folks sustain them by their attendance.

One hundred and thirty-four tickets were sold at this station Sunday for Newton Hamilton on account of the annual campmeeting which was opened there last Thursday. It is expected that the meetings this year will be the best that have ever been held in the history of the camp.

Among the persons appointed by Governor Stuart to represent Pennsylvania at the Farmers' National congress at Madison, Wis., which begins September 24, are Hon. G. W. Oster, of Osterburg, Bedford county; Hon. T. O. Millikin, of Huntingdon; and J. L. Patterson, of McConnellsburg, Fulton county.

The town of Sallito is to have a water supply. John W. Fisher, of Newport, Tennessee, formerly a resident of Sallito, is the capitalist who is financing the matter. Mr. Fisher is having springs investigated and estimates made for the system and expects to have it installed before cold weather sets in.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 members of the Grand Army of the Republic and their friends gathered at Caledonia, Franklin county, on Thursday for the third annual reunion under the auspices of House Post, No. 309, of Chambersburg. The excessive heat which marked the day was the only drawback to an otherwise highly enjoyable day.

Dickinson seminary at Williamsport will open this year with the largest enrollment of students in its history. Over 400 students will enter the institution on the hill this fall, an increase over last year's number, which at that time held a record for attendance. The school will be opened on Tuesday, September 15, and the repairs now being made are being rushed in order that there may be no delay.

Summer complaints and other serious ailments common in hot weather can be traced to the stomach in nine times out of ten. Keep the stomach in good order right now by keeping a bottle of Kodol handy in the house all the time, but especially during this month. Take Kodol whenever you feel you need it. That is the only time you need to take Kodol.

Rev. and Mrs. S. D. Wilson left Philadelphia at ten o'clock Sunday night, 9th inst., and were at Alfarata in time for breakfast next morning and after a rest proceeded to their cottage at Mapleton reaching here by ten o'clock, making the entire trip in less than twenty-four hours of driving. It was a beautiful moonlight night and they greatly enjoyed the trip. Yesterday Rev. and Mrs. Wilson left for Crystal Springs camp meeting and the children returned to their home at Philadelphia.

Thirty-five Italians laborers arrived in Mapleton Sunday to work on the pipe line which is being built across the county, running through Shireysburg and Marklesburg. On arriving here the interpreter learned that the camp had been moved to near Marklesburg and decided to take the men by rail to that place. On train No 89 the same day the men were taken via Huntingdon to their destination. These men are to take the place of other foreign laborers who were discharged last week while the camp was located near Casville.

NEW RAILROAD IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Contracts Let For Completion of Line From Pittsburg to New York.

The largest railroad contract let for a number of years has been closed at Pittsburg by which the Vanderbilts intend to complete a line between Pittsburg and New York, at the same time tapping the coal fields of Central Pennsylvania and making the shortest haul from the bituminous region to New York.

The contract calls for 310 miles of railroad and aggregates $13,000,000. The William J. Oliver company, of Knoxville, Ky., has the contract. The new line is known as the Pittsburg, Binghamton & Eastern railroad. Major H. A. Schwanneke is vice president and chief engineer, E. H. Gay & Co., of Boston, New York and Pittsburg, have financed the proposition. Work on 33 miles between Canton, Bradford Co., Pa., to Binghamton, N. Y., will be begun immediately.

The new company was organized some years ago to build a line from Clearfield, Pa., to Binghamton, N. Y. Later the Vanderbilt interests took a hand in the deal and succeeded in obtaining control of the organization. Up to the present time over 21 miles of right of way have been graded and about 5 miles of track laid.

An Eye on the Future.

Tommy's maiden aunt had called attention to some of that young man's misdemeanors, thereby causing him to be punished. Tommy pondered a while, then asked, "Papa, will little sister Gladys be an aunt to my children when I am a man?"

"Yes, Tommy," answered his father, much interested. "Why do you ask?"

"'Cause she might as well get married and have a home of her own, for I don't intend to 'low any aunts to stay around my house, making trouble for my children."—Womans Home Companion for August.

Miss Dora Bigley, of Tyrone, who had been visiting Mrs. B. B. Shore and sons for the past two weeks, returned home Monday. A social was held at the Shore home last Friday evening in honor of Miss Bigley. About twenty young people were present and spent a very pleasant evening.

John W. Fisher, of Newport, Tennessee, spent last Friday and Saturday at his former home in Sallito. Mr. Fisher is general superintendent and manager of a large tanning corporation and his duties keep him on the move much of the time. Last month his travels aggregated over four thousand miles. Notwithstanding his active business life he finds time for much church work and his services are in great demand as a speaker at large religious assemblies. He was one of the delegates from the Holston conference to the General Conference at Baltimore last May. The Holston conference is the one which has set the pace in Methodism for business methods in church work and Mr. Fisher deserves much of the credit for the promotion of the movement. We were glad to have opportunity to greet our friend and former schoolmate and bid him God speed in his labors.

As previously announced the Wright reunion will be held at Riverside park, Mapleton, Saturday, September 5th. Accordingly, to this reunion all the descendants of Abram Wright and Michael Mierley and their connections are cordially invited. This connection embraces a large part of the population of Mapleton and Huntingdon, and of Union and Cass townships besides hundreds in other parts of this county and in Blair county. Arrangements are being perfected to make this the largest and best reunion so far held by these families. The programme will be announced later.

While Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is especially recommended for children, it is, of course, just as good for adults. Children like to take it because it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. Its laxative principle drives the cold from the system by gentle, natural, yet copious action of the bowels. Sold by Geo. W. Wright.

THE JUVENILE GRANGE.

Some Reasons Why There Should Be an Organization of Young People.
[Special Correspondence.]

There is no department of grange work at the present time so important for both present and future as that of bringing in and training the young for the work of the Order.

This is an age of specialties, and among other wise and useful specialties child culture is receiving its share. Why, then, should not the child of the grange receive proper training and the granger of the future come upon the scene of action fully equipped and trained for the work he has to do? The grange is an educator of wondrous power and worth, and its training is entirely along different lines from those followed by the schools. There is a fitting for public life gained therein not to be found elsewhere. Many who have grown to manhood or womanhood timid and diffident have, with a few years of grange experience, acquired ability to express themselves clearly and in an interesting manner on almost all subjects. Had their training begun in early youth, what results might not have been reached!

The strongest argument in favor of the juvenile grange is that it takes the child at an age before other interests have crowded in and left no room for it. Many children who have grown up in among us and who have at an early age expressed a longing to become old enough to join the Order have by the time that age is reached lost interest, and their fresh young minds are lost to us. Since the organization of the juvenile grange many young children of worthy parents have come to us, and without a single exception every child has joined the grange at the earliest opportunity after the age of fourteen is reached. And without one exception these children are well trained on parliamentary rules, are more than usually thoughtful and are ready to express themselves on subjects which are up for discussion. Their help in the lecturer's hour is of wonderful value. The lecturer's hour is of equal value to them, giving them, as it does, the benefit of expressing themselves in public and training them for a future of usefulness.

THE COUNTY FAIRS.

Co-operation of the Grange and Agricultural Societies Desirable.

The county agricultural societies are beginning to see the benefit of having the grange co-operate with them in their annual exhibitions. Several county agricultural societies throughout the state have been thus co-operating for several years, but in other counties they have not done so. Our attention was recently called to an announcement made by the Columbia Agricultural and Horticultural society of Hudson, whose fair is to be held Sept. 15-17 and which offers for the best collective exhibit of fruits, grains or vegetables by any subordinate grange of the county of Columbia a first prize of $75 and a second prize of $40; also $10 will be paid to each grange making a creditable exhibit if it does not win the first or second premium. No entrance fee is charged to exhibitors in this class. The following scale of points is to govern:

Wise Guidance Needed.

This is a broad country, and the grange covers it well from Maine to California, with here and there a missing state above the old Mason and Dixon's line. Below it there are several. It demands great wisdom to legislate or suggest legislation for these many states, particularly where conditions vary as they do between California and Oregon and the extreme east. The labor question is one that requires different treatment here and there. The initiative and referendum so popular in some states is passively favored in others and earnestly opposed in still others. But the national grange has handled these diverse questions with good judgment thus far, and there is no reason to fear for the future.

Model Schoolhouse.

At a recent session of Wayne county (N. Y.) Pomona grange a student from Cornell Agricultural college spoke upon rural schools. In his remarks he described the model schoolhouse that Professor Bailey has at Ithaca, with two rooms, one fitted with desks as usual, the other a laboratory or workroom, with benches and tools and a window garden full of plants, showing that Prof. Bailey believes in industrial teaching.

The Working Grange.

One of the first lessons that experience taught the early grange worker was that after the organization of a grange, if it was to live and grow, it must be given some work to do. A. S. Moss of Fredonia grange, N. Y., in writing to O. H. Kelley in 1866, said, "We must have work if we succeed."

New Dust Killing Machine.

Consul General Robert J. Wynne reports that a new tar spraying machine which the makers claim will do away with the dust nuisance has been tested on the roadway in front of the Horticultural hall, Westminster, London, before practically the whole of the municipal engineers, a large number of county surveyors and suburban engineers and two representatives appointed by the war office. After the tar spraying process a second machine scattered a level layer of granite grit and chips upon the tar, which when rolled formed a road with a fine, smooth surface, durable and dustless. A tar macadam road made in this way costs from 3s. 6d. to 4 shillings ($5 to $7 cents) a square yard as against ordinary macadam, which costs on an average 2s. 6d. (60 cents) a square yard.

WHEN SHOES PINCH.

How to Prevent the Trouble and Insure Comfort.

There are few people who do not know some time in the course of the year where the shoe pinches, and it is hardly too much to say that in nearly every case this is preventable and is produced by ignorance. Bathing the feet daily, cutting the nails and going now and then to the chiropodist prevent many ills, but there is more to be done in order to promote the good appearance of the feet and their absolute comfort. Special foot ills from which people suffer are corns, bunions and ingrowing nails. It is necessary to be very careful in the selection of stockings, as also in boots and shoes. It is no economy to have only one pair of shoes or boots in constant wear. Three is far more beneficial. It is not good for the feet to keep to one pair, and three pairs will last much longer worn in change than one pair after the other.

During the day many people go through various phases with their feet. They are often slightly swollen in the morning; then a loose shoe should be worn, the size being sufficiently ample to allow the feet to spread and have perfect ease, the heels being not above the moderate height. On going out it is advantageous to change both shoes and stockings. The feet perspire a good deal, and a fresh stocking is healthy and cleanly. It is best to use cold water for the feet in cold weather and warm water in hot weather, for the cold water hardens the feet and especially in towns prevents the pavements affecting them and wards off chills. A little spirit in the water to bathe the feet rests and strengthens them, and a little borax and a little ammonia in the water are very beneficial. Those who have to stand about all day should change their shoes in the middle of the day and before dinner because this both cools and airs the feet. The leather dries and gets ailed and well cleansed too. Every pore of the feet and ankles is exhaling what the leather absorbs, so that it is neither cleanly nor hygienic to keep too long to the same boots and shoes, and the leather, which is thus allowed to air and dry, lasts much longer. The reason why patent leather shoes are so unhealthy and often painful in the wearing is that they cannot be ventilated, so that the feet perspire more. The ankles are very sensitive; hence in cold weather high boots or gaiters should be worn. If the feet are too dry and hard, the skin beneath thickening cream rubbed in at night is specially beneficial. Those that perspire unduly should be treated by damping the stockings with a little alcohol and applying a little powder, such as boracic or talum. Half of the foot trouble originate in improper shoe-wear.

high heeled shoes, shoes and boots that are too short—and many an undue increase of the great toe joint is due to wearing shoes too loose over the instep, thereby allowing the feet to spread. Boots and shoes to fit should follow the actual outline of the feet, whether short or long, broad or narrow.

How to Make Excellent Paste.

To make a fine paste take two ounces of pulverized gum arabic, one and one-half ounces of fine starch and one-half ounce of granulated sugar. Dissolve the gum arabic in as much water as you would use for the starch indicated. Mix the starch and sugar with the mucilage. Then cook the mixture in a double boiler until the starch becomes clear. It should be as thick as tar. It can be kept indefinitely by the addition of a teaspoonful of camphor or a few drops of oil of cloves.

How to Make Almond Milk.

Almond milk is made by blanching sixty almonds and putting them into a mortar with two lumps of sugar. The latter causes the oils to blend. By very slow degrees a pint of rosewater is then added, the nuts being broken at the same time by pounding until they are reduced to powder and all the rose water is in. This may stand bottled overnight and is then strained. It is one of the best lotions and bleaches there is.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN RACE RIOTS

Two Negroes Lynched By Mob at Springfield, Ill.

TROOPS NOW GUARDING CITY

Outbreak Followed An Attack By a Colored Man Upon a White Woman, Which So Incensed the Whites That All Colored Men Were Hunted Down Like Wild Beasts—Thirty-five Homes of Negroes Destroyed By Fire. Over 4000 Troops of Illinois National Guard On Duty.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17. — Within sight of the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, and despite the protection of 3000 troops, a second negro was lynched here.

The negro, William Donegan, eighty years old, was strung up to a telephone pole by a mob of such proportions that the firemen and the policemen who responded to the first alarm were unable to handle it. The lynching took place within two blocks of the state capitol.

Another disturbance took place in front of the state armory, where a crowd gathered and threatened to storm the building wherein were housed a number of negro refugees. Company L, of the Fourth Infantry, and Troop B, of the cavalry, were sent to the place, charged the mob with bayonets and dispersed it. This affair was simultaneous with the lynching of Parks, four blocks away, and held the entire attention of the troops.

Donegan was an inoffensive citizen. His shop was within two blocks of the state house. In the absence of a patrol, a mob set fire to the shop, and the old negro was compelled by the smoke to run into the street.

His appearance was greeted by a shower of stones and bricks. As he staggered under the fusillade he was seized and his throat cut. A rope was then run through the wound and the victim bound to a tree. There he was found later, unconscious and all but dead.

Since Friday, when George Richardson, a negro, attacked a white woman, Mrs. Earl Hallam, white men and negroes have been slaughtering one another in the streets. Today the former home of the great emancipator is an armed camp, nearly the entire Illinois National Guard being camped here. A Gatling gun company and a squad of cavalry are also stationed in the capital of Illinois, but seem powerless to check the crazed mob.

Five men have been killed, seventy-five injured by bullets and other missiles, and thirty-five homes destroyed by fire in the race war which followed the attack upon the white woman.

A woman, apparently unknown to all in the mob, led the thousands of white men in the riots. In the front of the crazed crowd she defied the militia to shoot, and led the men in the wrecking of the store belonging to the man who lent the automobile in which the white woman's assailant was taken to Bloomington.

The dead: William Donegan, negro, lynched; Cole Burton, negro, lynched; Lewis Johnson, white, seventeen years old; James Scott, white, seventy years old; John Caldwell, white. Two other men have since died.

With the arrival of the Second and Seventh Infantry regiments, I. N. G., and two squadrons of the First Cavalry, all from Chicago, the entire National Guard of Illinois, with the exception of the Sixth Infantry and the Eighth Infantry (colored), is now on duty in Springfield. In all 4200 guardsmen are in the city. Two deaths due to the violence of Friday and Saturday have occurred at St. John's hospital.

Alleged Mail Robber Held For Court.

Holly, the railway mail clerk who was arrested at Harrisburg, Pa., for robbing the mails, was held for the October term of the United States court, after a hearing before United States Commissioner Wolfe. Holly, who was grand commander of the Knights of Malta of Pennsylvania, has tendered his resignation to Grand Recorder Hoffman, who came here from Philadelphia to receive it.

Big Fish Draws Man to Death.

While trolling for bass in the rapids on the Schuylkill river below the Swede street dam, Charles Hillpot, employed as a clerk at John Dillon's hotel, Bridgeport, Pa., fell out of the boat and was drowned.

Hillpot had hooked a large fish, and while trying to land the bass he lost his balance and fell out of the boat. He could not swim and the swift current carried him down the river toward the DeKalb street bridge.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 23, 1908.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.
Topic.—Vacation religion.—Mark vi. 30-34.

Christ recognized both the need and the justice of rest. The apostles had been out doing missionary work. In their absence John the Baptist was put to death by the infamous Herod. When they heard of it they gathered together and buried him in a tomb. Then they returned to Jesus "and told him all things, both what they had done and what they had taught." They had labored faithfully and now made their reports. The death of John and its manner would naturally fill them with great distress of heart and mind. The Master, who could read the heart as well as the outward lives, realized all this and with it that they needed, and deserved a rest; hence He said to them, "Come ye yourselves out into a desert place and rest awhile, for there were many coming, and going, and they had no leisure so much as to eat." Thus Christ recognized that he who labors deserves a rest, a vacation, as we call it today.

The apostles were therefore to have a vacation and with Jesus with them. Oh, that Christians today in larger numbers sought the quieter places for rest and recreation and took Jesus with them! How much more profitable physically, spiritually and mentally their vacations would be! Instead of the noise and dissipation of "the mad-ding crowd," to go into "the decent place" and be with Jesus! But the tendency is just the opposite. The crowded places are sought. Conduct that we would not practice at home is freely indulged in. Jesus is left at home. The Bible is in a secure, safe place, while light and often immoral literature take its place. Religion is left at home, and flirting and dancing and drinking are the gods most frequently worshipped. Rest? Recreation? It is neither. Riotous living would come nearer to describing many vacations than rest.

That there is a vacation religion different from religion itself is an absurdity. Yet many believe it. How many say, "In Rome do as Rome does," and their consciences are quieted? But a religion that won't be in Rome or any other place the same is no religion. Rome went to ruin, and with it those who in Rome lived the sinful lives of the Romans. It is eminently proper when in different places to follow the customs of these places in so far as they are right, but when they are wrong the line of the Christian at least should be drawn. Where no moral question is involved it is courteous to do in a strange place what others do, but when morality is involved no such obligation rests upon us, no more than in China because we followed the custom of the Chinese in riding in a jinrikisha we must also bow down before Chinese idols.

Christ and the apostles teach us that vacation religion should be religion, not irreligion. They went to a desert place to rest, but the people followed them, and they administered both to their physical and spiritual wants. How many of us follow their example? We should, for they are our examples in all things if we are Christians.

Making Homes More Glorious.

Vice President Fairbanks paid the following tribute to Christian Endeavor in his speech at the Seattle convention:

"This Christian Endeavor society is a practical society. That is one of the things I like about it. It takes concern not only of the future, but of the present also. Wherever it is found it makes for all those things which most distinguish a high order of civilization. It is making better the community, the state and the country. And above and beyond all else it is making more glorious and more sublime the homes of our countrymen. The work it has done is great. Before it is a work greater still to be done. The twentieth century, upon which we have entered with such splendid promise, is in God's providence to be the greatest century since the stars first sang together, a century in which science will flourish as never before, a century in which literature will make splendid advances. And I believe that before the sun of the present century has passed its meridian we shall accomplish the greatest victory in the history of the world, and that will be the triumph of peaceful settlement over war itself. My friends, all honor to the Christian Endeavor society of the United States! Yes, all honor to the Christian Endeavor society throughout the world! I thank you all."

How to Remove Shiny Spots.

To remove shiny spots from black woolen garments place the garment, whether coat, trousers or dress, on an ironing board. Wring a cloth from water, spread carefully over the garment, then pass a hot flatiron back and forth just above the wet cloth as closely as you can without touching it. The nap will rise and the shine disappear.

Ten Dead In Explosion.

Nine men were killed and nearly a score of others were more or less seriously injured, one of whom died, and thousands of dollars worth of property damaged during an explosion at the York, Pa., rolling mill. The catastrophe, which was caused by the explosion of the boiler in the center of the mill which operated the jumbo engine and which was undergoing repairs, attracted thousands of persons to the scene.

Those killed are: John Clency, York, Pa.; Benjamin Brenner, Columbia, Pa.; Harry Seachrist, Columbia, Pa.; Paolo Puci, Columbia, Pa.; Alfred Struck, Columbia, Pa.; John Slossman, Columbia, Pa.; Harry Feger, Columbia, Pa.; Edward Fidler, Marietta, Pa.; Ezra Crum, York; Max Puthkeimer, Columbia, Pa.

The mill has been closed down for about a week, and about twenty-five men were engaged in making repairs to the large engine. Without warning the explosion took place, and none of the men at work were able to make their escape.

Found Women Praying Beside Corpses.

L. Emerson Wheat, a physician, forty-five years of age, was found dead in his home in Philadelphia, in one of the most pretentious residential sections of this city, under most startling circumstances. Beside the body of the dead man, which lay upon a couch, two women were found praying for his resurrection and muttering strange incantations, though physicians say the condition of the corpse indicates that the man had been dead at least forty-eight hours. Mrs. Fannie Scult, a professed spiritualist, and Miss Florence Beckman, who were arrested by the police, are the women. With them in the house was a five-year-old son of Mrs. Scult.

The police took the women to the station house, where Mrs. Scult made a statement in which she said that she had known Dr. Wheat for about seven years, and that since last April she had been treating him by rubbing him with her hands—giving him what is known as the magnetic treatment.

It is thought he boarded a train at Bristol, Pa., for Philadelphia. He would not discuss his personal affairs. BEECH RUN.

Hot, dry and dusty.
The corn yield in this section is badly crippled as rain did not come timely.
Mintie Creswell and sister Ida, of Huntingdon, called on friends here the past week.

Ruben Chilcote returned on Saturday from a sojourn among friends in Clearfield and Blair counties.

The Rupert Bros., who did the thrashing in the lower end of our valley, are reported as hustlers at the business.

Our roads, barring a few chuck holes, were never better. Dry weather always makes a good supervisor, on a dirt road.

Michael Lynn, Geo. Ross and Albert Query returned from the oil camp located near Marklesburg on Friday last. They were plucky haulers and stuck two to the ship from Aughwick to Tussey's Mountain.

It would be the height of our ambition to give full details of our week's outing along that serpent like winding stream Raystown. We have the lace and can thread the needle to trim this Queen river's dress, but will refrain.

Saturday, August 15, was a red letter day for the Sherman Sunday school. For at least a score of years this thrifty school gathers at the Posten grove and holds its annual picnic. The location and beauty of this grove is well known and needs no introduction. The patrons were present to a man, woman and child. The people of Smith valley are noted for their hospitality, so it was eat, drink and be merry. In the afternoon Revs. Reeser, of Cassville, and Gilbert, of Mapleton, each gave a fine talk along the line of sociability. Mapleton was well represented; a few from Huntingdon, while Juniata township contributed her share. Calvin was represented. Shaver's creek valley and Cronwell township also helped to swell the number, while from the beaten path which leads from Hares valley there came a solid delegation. All the refreshments were disposed of, not a remnant held over at four o'clock. A ball game was played between Beech Run and a picked nine. After the fourth inning the game lacked interest and at the end of the sixth the untrifled Beech Run delivered the scalps of their opponents to Squire A. R. Foster. At 10.30 the happy crowd disbanded well pleased with the day and evening spent at Posten's grove.

There will be preaching in the chapel by Rev. McClain, Thursday evening, 20th inst., at 7.30.

Mrs. Annie Query and her niece, Miss Verna Query, escaped what might have proved a very bad accident on Wednesday while returning from the funeral of Mrs. Pheasant. As they were descending Clear Ridge their horse for some reason became unmanageable and kicked the splash board loose from the buggy and made things quite interesting for the time. They were badly frightened but stuck to the rig and landed safely home.

A Letter from Mrs. W. J. Taylor.

Mrs. W. J. Taylor, of Brule, Nebraska, who had been on an extended trip east paid a visit to her sister, Mrs. A. T. Wagner, at Wilmington, N. C. While in the south Mrs. Taylor wrote of her travels to her western friends, a copy of her letter we produce from the Keith County News, published at Ogalalla, Nebraska.

Wilmington, N. C., Aug. 3rd 1908.

Mr. Editor:—We beg leave to use a little space in your valuable paper for the purpose of answering our many enquiring friends, as we cannot write each one personally.

We arrived in Huntingdon, Pa., about 2:30 a. m. Saturday, June 20. After visiting friends at my old home in Huntingdon county we decided to visit our sister who lives in Wilmington, N. C., and it is about this that we wish particularly to speak. We left Huntingdon at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday, July 29th, arriving at Harrisburg at 9:20 p. m. After a wait of over two hours we again started on our journey, arriving in Baltimore, Md., about 3:00 o'clock Thursday. After waiting another hour we started for Washington D. C. Arriving there we immediately took the train for Wilmington. We passed through the famous old town of Fredericksburg just as the 7 o'clock whistles were blowing to go to work. We arrived at Richmond Va., about noon Thursday. After a short stop and a change of cars at the famous old confederate capital we again proceeded, arriving in Wilmington at 6:20 p. m. As sister did not know we were coming we took a cab as there was a hard rain in progress at the time. We had no trouble finding sister's house and of course she was glad to see us.

The rain during the night turned out to be one of those periodical storms that visit this section of the coast about this time of the year. The storm did considerable damage to shipping and annoyance to pleasure seekers at the different beaches. No lives were lost but some of the cottages were considerably damaged; one being entirely destroyed. This was unfortunate as the season is just at its height at this time. On Saturday however the sun shone brightly and we took the trolley cars to the beach and made our bow to the old Atlantic. To say we were delighted is putting it mildly and of course the temptation was too great so we rented bath suits and took a dip in the briny surf. After the storm the ocean was unusually calm and as the tide was coming in we had a fine time and enjoyed ourselves. The people here say this was an unusually hot day but we did not think it any warmer than in Nebraska.

All kinds of shell fish and sea fish are found here, but we did not stop to catch any.

We saw cotton, rice and corn fields, and tobacco plantations. This is the heart of the south, and as the trucking season is over we are unable to go into details. We are told however that this industry is building up very rapidly. Among the crops the principal ones are strawberries, potatoes and lettuce, although there are a great many others. The strawberries go in train load lots, as many as one hundred and forty cars in one day from this section alone.

We saw Spanish moss on the trees, also the mistletoe and holly, but as these are in their prime during holiday season we shall not gather any.

This is an important port and is thirty miles from the mouth of Cape Fear river. Large vessels drawing as much as twenty-three feet of water come in here to load with cotton, lumber and coal.

This is a city of about thirty thousand inhabitants, about two-fifths of whom are black, and who occupy the out skirts of the city. There are thirty churches and sixty-three saloons but are glad to say the saloons will be abolished Jan. 1st 1909.

The largest cotton compress in the world is situated here, over five hundred thousand bales were shipped from this port last year. This year the cotton crop promises to exceed last year. There are also two large cotton mills situated here.

We forgot to say that the rice in North Carolina is considered superior to any raised in the United States. Let us worry our readers we will bring this to a close. We expect to leave here on the fifth.

Yours very respectfully,
Mrs. W. J. TAYLOR.

Does your back ache? Do you have sharp pains in the side and the small of the back? This is due, usually, to kidney trouble. Take DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They will promptly relieve weak back, backache, rheumatic pains and all Kidney and Bladder disorders. Sold and recommended by G. W. Wright.

his parents, James Monihen and wife.

The Beech Run correspondent has not given us the report of his fishing trip. We would like to hear if he got any bites.

The Latta Grove giants and the Knightsville tigers played a game of baseball at Knightsville last Saturday. The score was 12 6 in favor of Latta Grove.

SHOT TO DEATH AS RESULT OF FEUD

Benjamin De Gildo Kills Pasquale De Felix at West Chester.

West Chester, Pa., Aug. 17.—Benjamin De Gildo, of Philadelphia, shot and killed Benjamin De Felix, fatally wounded Pasquale De Felix, father of the murdered man, here, and then, to escape capture at the hands of an infuriated mob, committed suicide by shooting himself. The sensational shooting is said to be the outgrowth of a feud that has existed between the Italians for a long time. The bad feeling was recently increased by the arrest of De Felix, the murdered man, on a charge of keeping a speakeasy and being identified with a counterfeiting plot. De Felix was cleared of the charge at a hearing in Philadelphia, at which time he is alleged to have accused De Gildo of having offered to give "Black Hand" agents $75 to kill De Felix.

De Gildo came here, accompanied by Angella Diernerneigildo. The couple met Benjamin De Felix on the street. A few words passed, and De Gildo drew a revolver and shot De Felix in the breast. As the man fell De Gildo sent another bullet into his body. The shooting took place not far from the De Felix home, and Pasquale De Felix, father of the murdered man, ran to the assistance of his son. He felled De Gildo with a brick and engaged in a personal combat. As he struggled to his feet De Gildo again used his revolver and shot the elder De Felix in the abdomen and fled, pursued by an angry mob, including many friends of the De Felix family.

Murder At Birthday Celebration.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 17. — In a fight near Nanticoke Michael Poplewski, aged thirty-six years, was instantly killed, and John Grabowski, aged forty years, was fatally stabbed. A party of nearly fifty Lithuanians were celebrating a birthday of one of their number in a field, where they had several kegs of beer. Five other men, strangers to them, made their appearance and attempted to celebrate with them. They were ordered to leave, and on refusing to do so a free-for-all fight took place with knives and stilettos, resulting in a murder. Four brothers—George, Andrew, Joseph and Anthony Millisagnski and their brother-in-law, Charles Teimenulus, were arrested for the crime. Other arrests are expected to be made.

Bathers Drowned At Bowers Beach.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 17. — Clarence Dutton, aged twenty-five years, and Nellie Nickerson, aged twenty years, both of Chester, Pa., were drowned at Bowers Beach, a summer resort on the Delaware bay, a few miles below this city. Dutton, Miss Nickerson and three other persons had gone in bathing, and were carried beyond their depth by the treacherous current at this point.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers, safe, easy, pleasant, sure, little liver pills. Sold by G. W. Wright.

WE LAY US DOWN TO SLEEP.

We lay us down to sleep,
And leave to God the rest:
Whether to wake and weep,
Or wake no more be best.
Why vex our souls with care?
The grave is cool and low—
Have we found life so fair
That we should dread to go?
We've kissed love's sweet, red lips,
And left them sweet and red:
The rose the wild bee sips
Bloom on when he is dead.
Some faithful friends we've found,
But they who love us best,
When we are under ground
Will laugh on with the rest.
No task have we begun
But other hands can take;
No work beneath the sun
For which we need to wake.
Then hold us fast, sweet Death,
If so it seemeth best
To Him who gave us breath
That we should go to rest.
We lay us down to sleep:
Our weary eyes we close:
Whether to wake and weep
Or wake no more, He knows.
—Louise Chandler Moulton.

Hare's Valley Fifty Years Ago

BY JOHN M. DRAKE

In educational affairs this valley was not behind some of the wealthier sections of the county. In order that the reader may have a better understanding of the situation it is necessary to say something about the school law and the facilities for obtaining a teacher's education. The common school system of Pennsylvania was adopted in 1835. In 1857 there were one hundred and seventy-four schools in Huntingdon county. In 1854 the legislature fixed the minimum length of the school term at 4 months. The necessary qualifications of a teacher were a fair knowledge of arithmetic, write a legible hand, read and spell fairly well, and last but not least, plenty of muscle to wield the birch.

The first teachers' institute in Huntingdon county was organized in Huntingdon February 23d, 1854. James S. Bar was the choice, and his salary was set at $300 per annum. But 50 years ago Prof. Albert Owen was the incumbent, at a salary of $600 per annum. In 1849 Milwood Academy at Shade Gap was founded and was in its palmy days fifty years ago. Cassville Seminary was founded in 1851 and many of the teachers of a half century ago took advantage of those schools and received excellent training. Some of the teachers of those days were better qualified in book education than many of the present day teachers, but professional training was scarcely thought of.

Now let us return to Hare's valley and take a trip through it, starting at Saltillo, a village at the extreme southern point. The school house stood on the Strayer farm, was a frame structure and a very good for those times. The seating capacity was about fifty, with long benches made of planed white pine boards. The writing desks, as we call them now, were long, broad boards along the walls of two sides of the room, hence the scholars faced the wall while the back was in good position for the birch, as I can truthfully say from experience. The teacher was seated on a raised platform. The heat was furnished by a ten plate stove which took a three footstick, and the large boys cut the wood and the small ones carried it into the house. The large girls did the sweeping. The blackboard was about two and one-half feet square and was never used. The writing was principally done with quill pens; steel pens were introduced at that time but like every other improvement it took a long time to bring them into general use. A great deal of the teacher's time was consumed in making and repairing pens. Classification was in its infancy. Nearly all of the pupils recited singly or one at a time. No recesses were allowed except one hour for dinner and play. The school was governed almost entirely by the rod and in most cases despotically and tyrannically. This school district took in the valley as far north as Knightsville. Some of the teachers of this school were as follows: William Crottsley, Jacob Baker, Washington Green, J. B. Moreland and Henry Hudson. The history of this school house is over fifty years ago, as it was replaced with a new house in 1858 on another site, the Pine Grove school house a short distance northwest of Saltillo. The first teacher that taught in the new house was W. H. Green who was educated at Cassville Seminary. Just at this period adoption of text books and classification was coming into general use. From this last named house or school some of the prominent men not only of county and state but of the nation have gone forth,—teachers, lawyers, doctors, ministers, merchants, editors, and one congressman. In those good old days mental arithmetic was introduced by Prof. John F. Stoddard and was bitterly opposed by some teachers and many patrons. The county superintendent, Albert Owen, on visiting the schools would walk around to each and every pupil in the school, and look at their copy books, etc., and give each a word or two of encouragement. In our next we shall begin at Knightsville and travel toward Mapleton.

Her husband, whose duties require his almost constant attention along the line, finds little time to enjoy Mapleton's pleasant surroundings. They expect soon to move to some point farther west.

—Mrs. W. J. Taylor and four children of Brule, Nebraska, who have been spending the summer at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Walker, of Cass township, yesterday started on their homeward journey. They were accompanied as far as Altoona by her parents and together they will spend the time with relatives until Friday when Mrs. Taylor and children will continue on their western journey and Mr. and Mrs. Walker will return to their pleasant home at Latta Grove. Looking Back Fifty Years

BY J. G. HICKS

Had we time and space we would like to recall some of the many interesting stories which the older citizens tell of those times of long ago the remembrance of which they enjoy, and of which, as expressed by the ancient queen at the Court of Solomon, the half cannot be told. I fear some of my readers would be inclined to salt some of the tales of the fifties, but the doing of those early settlers would fill a book which by the way I am not attempting to write, hence will desist.

No churches of any kind were in this vicinity at that time. Reverend Brinton Collins of the Presbyterian denomination held services in the school house at stated periods. Elections were held in a building known as the Corbin school house, at the junction of Smith valley and the hollow extending to the Lone Star school house, locally known as Pole Cat Hollow. In the fall of 1857, the first village blacksmith shop was erected near the junction of Main and Sugar streets and was operated by a man named Samuel Ludwig. The reader will bear in mind that all names of streets have come since the incorporation of the Borough.

In the year 1852 we find that sand rock was first found to be of commercial value for manufacturing purposes. Nothing whatever was known by those in this vicinity as to the necessary preparation of the commodity so that it could be made use of. The only thing known to the pioneer shipper of sand was that the rock as gathered up from detached fragments, which the action of the elements caused to roll from the mountain-side, and other particles which they could conveniently loosen from the main body of the rock with their sledge hammers, were made use of by the glass manufacturers in the Pittsburg district, and for which the said manufacturers were willing to pay a good price. This rock in great chunks was carted to the canal and taken on flat boats to Bridgeport where it was loaded on the cars and brought the fabulous price of seven dollars per ton, which price when compared with what is paid for the sand at the present time causes one to take a long breath and think of the pinch those pioneer sandmen had. Little dreamed the workmen of '52 that ere a half a century would roll around the rock would be fully prepared for immediate use before being taken away from this vicinity; neither thought they of the many processes involved in the said preparation, nor how such processes would develop with the years and become so perfected that where the crude rock now shipped to the manufacturing centers it would be useless, for the reason that those in charge of the glass factories at the present time are not supplied with the necessary equipment for reducing the crude material to the proper shape for their needs, that part of the work having been developed at this end of the line. This development has been most complete and perfect in every detail and therein lies the secret of our industrial success, past, present and future. In this year we find that the firm of Uley and King opened a quarry on the north side of the river for the shipment of sand rock on land leased from General McComb. This firm shipped for a few years and when their lease expired, about 1858, the General took charge of the quarry himself and became the first local shipper of sand from this section, the former parties not being residents of Mapleton. The quarry was near the present location of the Empire works of the Pennsylvania Glass Sand Company. The rock in a crude condition was, as before stated, boated to Bridgeport for loading on cars. Bridgeport at that time was a place of some importance, there being a large ware house with facilities for loading and unloading canal boats. The main road from Huntingdon passed over the canal and railroad at that point and continued down along the river crossing at the covered bridge near where the stone arch bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad now stands, which was then known as the Vandevander's bridge and is yet sometimes referred to by that name by some of the older residents. This road lead through the main street of Mapleton and along the mountain-side to Jackstown, thence the tow path was used to Drake's Ferry.

About this time we note several changes or additions in the names of the business men. Extensive lumber operations were begun by Squire Campbell and also by Eonigmacher & Bauman in what is known as Scrub Gap. These operations continued several years. The entire section of town now occupied by Main Street in the vicinity of the railroad buildings was made use of as a lumber yard. The engines of the company at this time used wood and a number of men were kept busy replenishing the piles of wood necessary for the engines which took on a supply at this station. It is somewhat difficult for one to realize how the traffic even of that date was handled by locomotives which depended on wood for steam-making power. The sight of seeing one of the large engines now moving over the line every few minutes gives a demonstration and a thorough one of the great change that fifty years have brought about.

The year 1859 brought the first shoemaker to town in the person of John S. Henderson who moved from Mount Union and established himself in his chosen profession. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson have the distinction of being the oldest married couple in the village, having been married in the year 1856 and living continuously in Mapleton since 1859. The first case that came before our well known justice of the peace, A. W. Swope, who had been elected at the spring election of that year, was one between General McComb and John S. Henderson and the records will show a verdict in favor of the testy General, but the matter was afterwards adjusted amicably between the contestants. This case was tried in the month of July, 1859.

The Squire continued operations as contractor and builder seemingly having it all his own way as we find no record of any other resident builder, while he and his workmen were kept busy during that and the next year which opened on war times, when little was done in way of home making. The stirring events of the opening years of the great rebellion in and about Mapleton were numerous and of much interest, but do not bear particularly on the matter in thought of the writer. In the year 1861 we find the citizens becoming interested in having a church built. Much might be written concerning this matter if space would permit.

The first church was built by Mr. Swope as a Union church, all denominations contributing towards its erection and making use of it as a place of worship. This building was placed in the western part of the present village site, being near the school house, in what afterwards became the United Brethern Cemetery, that denomination coming into the ownership of the church building. It stood where first placed and was made use of by this people until the year 1893, when they took possession of a substantial and beautiful edifice in which they now worship, built by Hall & Edwards, contractors of Huntingdon. The old church was sold to Mr. R. C. Fields and was taken down and re-erected on his property in the southern part of the village. Mr. Swope recalls one instant which annoyed him and somewhat delayed the work of erecting the original first church in Mapleton. The mason who had been engaged to do the necessary work on the structure, after contracting to do it, became enthusiastic about going to the war. Men at that time all over the land were enlisting as soldiers for the preservation of the Union and one day the builder found that his mason had joined the boys in blue, not even taking time to say good-by. Those were strenuous days and another workman was procured to finish the superstructure. The original mason was numbered among those who sleep their long sleep under the sunny southern sky and knew nothing of happenings in the neighborhood of his Northern home. He was one of the first to meet death from the bullet of a Confederate soldier. Many citizens of this village and vicinity served Uncle Sam during this memorable struggle and the growth of the village was very slow during the years of the war. A goodly number of our residents can recall many stirring events through which they passed during the time of service in the cavalry, infantry and navy during this greatest of all wars known to mankind.

In 1862 the Presbyterians in this vicinity decided that they wanted a church for their exclusive use and Contractor Swope was again consulted. The church which he constructed still stands on the original site. It has, however, been several times remodeled since it was first made ready for worship for those whose views followed the beliefs of Calvin. Aside from the building of this public place of worship there was little work of the kind done during this year as the war was in full progress and business of all kinds seems to have been at a standstill, awaiting the outcome of the great struggle for supremacy.

How to Clean a Sweater.

If you wish to wash a sweater make a suds of warm water, white soap and borax. Move the sweater up and down in the water until clean; then rinse in warm water, adding a little borax. In regard to drying, always tie the article (all in a bunch) in a towel or cloth, knotting the four corners; then pin it to a line out of doors, where the wind will blow through it. The towel should be opened from time to time and the article shaken, then replaced. When fairly dry the process may be completed in the house by laying, still in a heap, over the register or any place where it can get thoroughly dry. Pull into shape during the drying, and the garment will be found soft, fluffy and very little shrunken.

How to Make a Commode.

An empty packing box does not cost anything and makes a good commode or dressing stand if fixed in this way: Get a large packing box; turn same upside down; knock the board out of one side for the door; nail in wooden brackets and fit in a wide board for a shelf; then cover the top and sides of the box with black five cent lining, tacking in neatly around. Stretch a hay wire across the top of door and slide on curtains of red cotton or any material desired; then hang up a large mirror, which will improve the looks of the stand.

CARE OF PETS.

How to Keep Household Pets Well by Proper Attention.

There is no time in the year when animals need so much care as in the summer. Then they must not only be kept clean, but must be fed and watered properly, for on this depends their health.

Dogs should be given little or no meat during the warm weather, and water should be kept where they can get it at any time. Dog biscuits are the best form of food for them. Milk and oatmeal are also good. A bone with very little meat on it may be given for them to chew, but it is better to let the biscuits take its place. Dogs should be washed at least once a week to keep them in good condition. A soap containing tar is best for the purpose.

Cats should be fed mainly on milk and mush, and, strange to say, they are very fond of some vegetables. Corn on the cob does not hurt them, and a great many like it very much. There have even been cats that liked cantaloupe. These animals also should have water where they may get it, and some cats may be washed with good results—to the cat—although it is a very dangerous operation for the unfortunate person who is detailed to perform the feat. Some cool place should be provided for them to sleep, but the cellar is not always good, for it is too damp.

Dogs should not be allowed to sleep in the house, particularly in summer. The stable is the best place, or, lacking that, the dog kennel would be all right.

Canaries should be provided with a daily bath. Drinking water should be kept in their cages at all times. Lettuce leaves, celery tops and chickweed should be provided for them about twice a week, and a bit of red pepper will do them no harm. Cuttlefish, of course, is always kept in the cage, which should be lined with gravel.

Hemp seed is very fattening and should not be given to the birds very often. They should be fed on bird seed and rape seed, with a lump of sugar as an occasional treat.

How to Wash Veils.

If your white veil is very much soiled it will not be a difficult matter to bring it back to its original newness. Make a strong lather of white soap and simmer the veil in it for about a quarter of an hour. Rinse it in cold water carefully with a little liquid bluing. You can also add perfume to this water. Pass the veil through a thin gum arabic water, or water in which rice has been boiled, and clear it by shaking. Pin evenly on a linen cloth. When dry, lay between a piece of thin muslin and iron on wrong side. To wash your black veil pass it through hot water in which a small quantity of ox gall has been mixed, together with some perfume. Squeeze but do not rub it. Rinse in cold water, putting bluing in the last rinse. Stiffen by dipping in a very thin glue water made by pouring water on glue. Squeeze and shake out and dry and iron on the wrong side, the same as the white veil.

The Wide Field.

The grange is not a one idea organization. Its fields of usefulness are as many, as wide and as diversified as are the fields, orchards and gardens of our farms. Keep them all well tilled.
